

I was accused by you (though untruly) of Negligence and Insufficiency; and therefore, to vindicate my Reputation, I present to the Judgment of Learned men these few plain Grammatical Questions, which ordinarily I produce to my Scholars. For the resolution whereof, or any of the like nature, I usually produce a Greek Rule of a Classical Author; that all the World may judge, whether the resolving such Questions, in a Scholastic and usual way, be a work of Negligence, and ignorance, or no: if not, I hope I shall be absolved by the Judgment of that crime, that is by some maliciously laid to my charge.
